I have a POF 52 and the manual that goes with it so I PDFd it and loaded it up to ROUTER FORUMS where surfers I hope will locate it and be able to use their POF 52 to its fullest. I also had a manual for a Multi Sharp which is a neat little drill and small tool grinder and sharpener. I think they made them in England, I dont know if they still do. I PDFd that manual and uploaded it for others that have misplaced or lost their manual. Manuals sometimes go missing during house moves or kids and dogs eat them or whatever. If you pick up a nice tool secondhand its sweet to have a manual to see what the designers and manufacturers had in mind. Thanks for the pics mate. So whatch out on the internet Regards Leif Leifs1 is offline I am looking for this manual for POF 52, starting working with a router for the first time. Thanks for attention to this post. Login to post I have a Bosch pof 500a router Handie Andie Model 26464 Industrial Routing Table I am a service dealer for Freud. I can get you an operating manual for your router BUT there is no assembly instructions for it. If you need parts for your router I can supply. I am the last dealer in Ontario for Freud because they were bought out by Bosch and are being phased out. Is SOAKING AGENT same as detergent. So do you put some detergent in that receptacle, and some more detergent in the left receptacle. I have a Bosch Axxis ELF 2050. I just put the detergent in the left receptacle, with a warm water setting. Not even lightest stain is removed. Am I supposed to add A SOAKING AGENT too. And what on earth is that. I miss my Maytag! Simple and great! Replaced the drain pump. Pump still doesnt come on. Works fine until its time to drain in the rinse cycle.

You should upgrade or use an alternative browser. I have been given one and there are no instructions with it. I cannot make it plunge. Perhaps someone either has a manual, or can advise. I have a pof500a router, but no idea where the instructions are, but the plunge lock is one of the handles. One of the pillars has a retaining screw in the top of it to stop the base dropping out of the frame and the handle that side is a pinch screw that locks the plunge. My other router doesnt have this mechanism, hence the problem. I can see from the picture on the box what the fence is for, but what is the black plastic piece for, and the L shaped piece with a little wheel on it, and the cylinder with a point on the end. I have just completed a fine furniture making course of 40 weeks with Chris Faulkner, so I can do the very best in hand cut dovetails, and produce the highest quality cabinets, tables, and chairs, but I have acquired these routers, so would like to know what I can do with them. I have been taught to cut grooves and tenons etc on the table saw without riving knife and guards! I am trying to cram basic machinery into a very small shed, where my Lie Nielsen planes really do have pride of place. Regards, Rich. The cylinder with a point on the end is, I think, for routing circles, the point locating the centre of the circle. I should remember what the pieces are as I have one of these routers myself, but I havent used it for a long time I upgraded a few years ago and havent had to call on the POF500 since then. I might well have the manual buried away somewhere too, which I can try to dig out if you are really stuck. Ask your question here.
